

The Department of Counseling at Wake Forest University Presents:

“Impact of Beginnings: Attachment Theory Across Clinical Concerns”

with Dr. Cheyenne Carter

AND

“Treating Anxiety in Children and Adolescents: An Integrated, Holistic Perspective”

with Dr. Mark Scholl

When	Friday, April 21, 2017 9:00 am-4:00 pm
Where	Wake Forest University Carswell Hall, Room 208
Registration Cost	Full day, includes both morning and afternoon sessions	$ 100
	Half day, morning OR afternoon session	$ 60
CEUs	6 CEUs/full day, 3 CEUs/half day

Seminar Schedule
8:45 am	Seminar Check In—Carswell Hall, second floor lobby. Coffee and pastries provided.
9:00-12:00	Morning Session—Impact of Beginnings with Dr. Cheyenne Carter
12:00-1:00	Lunch Break—on your own
1:00-4:00	Afternoon Session—Treating Anxiety in Children and Adolescents with Dr. Mark Scholl
4:00-4:15	Evaluation Forms Completed and CEU certificates distributed

About the Presenters

Dr. Cheyenne Carter holds a PhD in Counseling from the University of North Texas. She maintains a local counseling practice. Attachment theory continues to grow in prominence as the counseling field reacts to emerging research results and clinical modality development. In her seminar, Dr. Carter will highlight some of the less obvious attachment components of clients’ presenting concerns, thereby allowing clinicians to widen their lens when working with a variety of clients.

Dr. Mark Scholl holds a PhD in Counseling and Counselor Education from UNC Greensboro. His research interests include constructivist approaches to counseling, and career counseling for ex-offenders. In his afternoon seminar, Dr. Scholl will discuss recommendations for treating anxiety (e.g., social anxiety, generalized anxiety disorder) in children and adolescents. The presentation will include cognitive behavioral, and humanistic approaches and techniques.

Both presenters are currently on the faculty of Wake Forest University

Questions? Contact Louise Schatz at 336.758.6502 or schatzla@wfu.edu